I love you lee, I will cherish every single memory I have of us growing up. So many great funny stories to share. For instance the one time we were at a gas station and you were going to let me drive so you and I both got out to switch spots and my friends in the back seat and you forgot to put it in park and so it drove down and into the road as you were trying to hard to jump back in with my friends screaming in the back seat then continuously laughing at what just happened. I miss you
